New Genera and Higher Taxa in Entomology with Their Authors
from the BIBLIOGRAPHY OF AGRICULTURE for 1958, 1959 & 1960

Compiled by Elisabeth Bruncke Burch

This is an alphabetical list of new genera and higher taxa (subgenera excluded) listed and indexed in the Bibliography of Agriculture for 1958, 1959, and 1960. It is accompanied by an alphabetical list of authors. Both lists refer the reader to the year and item number in which the complete citation for the article may be found in the monthly issues. The list of new names includes the year, abbreviated to 58, 59, or 60, the item number, the order or class, and author or authors. For example:

Prospodrus 60 #5854 Coleo Britton E B

Prospodrus is the new genus; it is in the 1960 Bibliography of Agriculture, item #5854; it is in the Coleoptera (see last page for complete list of abbreviations); the author is E. B. Britton. This item, found in the January 1960 issue, has the following citation:

5854 Britton, E. B. Carabidae (Coleoptera) from New Zealand caves. Roy. Ent. Soc. London. Proc.
Ser. B, Taxonomy 28 (7/8):103-106. Sept.30, 1959.
420 L84Pb

New spp. in Duvaliomimus and Prospodrus n.g.

The author list includes year, item number, and, in parentheses, the number of new genera described if more than one.

Britton E B 59 #13848(10) 60 #5854

E. B. Britton described ten new genera in the article listed in 1959, but only one in the article listed in 1960.

Of the 2,009 new genera and higher taxa described in the entomological literature and listed in these three years, six orders represent 84% of the total names. Coleoptera has 565 new genera; Hemiptera, 393; Lepidoptera, 237; Acarina, 191; Hymenoptera, 167; Diptera, 142; Coleoptera alone making up 28% of the total. The remaining 26 orders or classes comprise 16% of the total of which six orders have four or fewer new genera: Plecoptera, four; Siphonaptera, three; Psocoptera, two; and Strepsiptera, Solpugida, and Tardigrada, one. Six new superfamilies were described, 15 new families, and 42 new subfamilies. These 2,009 new taxa were described by 495 authors in 867 different articles published in the entomological literature in 1958, 1959, 1960 or earlier, and represent only a part of the more than 30,000 articles on entomology listed in the Bibliography of Agriculture these three years.
